REPORT OF THE SELECTMEN

For the Year Ending Feb. 15, 1910.

To the Citizens of Hillsborough:

On account of larger appropriations made by the state, town, precinct and school districts, there was a higher tax rate at the last assessment than in previous years. Not many large expenditures of money have been found necessary that were not anticipated when the appropriations were made. When the season opened for repairs on the highways, three of the four horses on the town teams would be classed as old. One of these, on account of an organic disease, was not able to do regular team work. This horse was used to carry out tools for the stone gang early in the season and later was turned out to pasture and one horse was purchased. In the fall the chestnut horse that was turned out to pasture was able to take his place with his mate and the white horse, which had worked on one of the town teams for 15 years and which was about 24 years old, was killed. The joint fund of the town and state for permanent road improvement was $4766,00. The road was surveyed as far as the saw mill at the Lower Village. On account of the great amount of ledge excavation, the monev was not sufficient to build to this point. After the grading was completed as far as E. O. Pendleton's house, the contractors were ordered by the state engineer to do no more work beyond a point near the junction of the two roads at Scott Gay's house. The section beyond this point that had been graded was hardly safe for travel. The contractors estimated that it would cost $200 to complete the road. The town did the work for $90.20 in money and four days' work with one of the town teams. The state authorities allowed the balance of the joint fund to go towards the expense of completing the section that had been graded. The entire cost of the state road was $4695.32. Of the money expended on the state road extension $70.68 was paid from the joint fund and $19.52 was paid from the town treasury.

The following letter from the State Engineer's office explains the position taken by the State at the time the road was accepted:

"As a result of a conference between Mr. Smith, Supt. of the Lane Construction Corporation, and Mr. Dean after a personal inspection of the road, it was decided that the contractor had done all that had been asked of him to do, although the road is not in first-class shape at the present time. The only thing needed would be to keep the ruts smoothed cut and as there was a balance amounting to approximately $85.00, Mr. Dean thought that it would be best to make final payment to the contractor and that the town use a portion of this unexpended balance necessary to smooth the ruts out until the surface becomes true and hard."

It has been the policy of the town to figure on reducing the town delt about $1000 each year and the exact amount of the reduction since the last report is $1371.07

The state authorities allowed the balance of the joint fund to go towards the expense of completing the section that had been graded. The entire cost of the state road was $4695.32. Of the money expended on the state road extension $70.68 was paid from the joint fund and $19.52 was paid from the town treasury.

The following letter from the State Engineer's office explains the position taken by the State at the time the road was accepted:

"As a result of a conference between Mr. Smith, Supt. of the Lane Construction Corporation, and Mr. Dean after a personal inspection of the road, it was decided that the contractor had done all that had been asked of him to do, although the road is not in first-class shape at the present time. The only thing needed would be to keep the ruts smoothed cut and as there was a balance amounting to approximately $85.00, Mr. Dean thought that it would be best to make final payment to the contractor and that the town use a portion of this unexpended balance necessary to smooth the ruts out until the surface becomes true and hard."

It has been the policy of the town to figure on reducing the town delt about $1000 each year and the exact amount of the reduction since the last report is $1371.07

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

To the Selectmen and Citizens of the Town of Hillsborough, N. H.:

Last year your Board of Health expressed the "Hope for the continuance of the present favorable sanitary condition of the town." That hope has been fully realized during the past year. Although a few cases of scarlet fever, and more of measles, have occurred, these have all been of mild type and no epidemic has prevailed. That scourge of many communities, typhoid fever, the result of impure water, milk and other food supplies and of poor drainage, has happily not prevailed.

Again hoping for the continuance of the blessing of general good health, we respectfully submit this brief report.

To the inhabitants of the Hillsborough Bridge Village Fire Precinct in the Town of Hillsborough qualified to vote in Precinct affairs:

- 2. To choose one or more Water Commissioners to serve five years.
- 3. To choose three Fire Commissioners, Treasurer, Clerk, Auditors, and other necessary Precinct officers for the ensuing year.

- 6. To see what action the Precinct will take in regard to laying a new and larger water main from the reservoir on Bible Hill to the Square known as Central Square within said Precinct, and to raise such sums of money as may be necessary for the same, or to pass any vote relating thereto.

- 7. To raise such sums of money as may be necessary for paying the current expenses of the Precinct, the debt of the Precinct, and any other charges arising within said Precinct
- 8. To transact any other business that may legally come before the meeting.

Given under our hands and seal this twenty-first day of February in the year of our Lord, mineteen hundred and ten.

JOHN B. TASKER,
FRANK E. MERRILL,
DANIEL W. COLE,
Board of Fire Commissioners.

REPORT OF THE FIRE COMMISSIONERS

For the Year Ending Feb. 15th, 1910.

The Board of Fire Commissioners submits the following report:

The fire companies have been called out five times during the past year, making a quick response in each case, thus resulting in but slight damage to property, with the exception of call 78 on Jan. 15th, when the Colby block was entirely destroyed. The firemen deserve and should have our best consideration and support.

The fire alarm system is now in excellent condition and is supplemented by a telephone installed in the Woolen Mill, connection being made at the central office. Mr. Lincoln makes no charge for use.

The law in regard to fire escapes on public buildings, public halls, lodging houses, etc., has been complied with by some of the owners and it is hoped that the others may fall into line, so as to eliminate as far as possible danger to life or limb.

The sprinkling of the streets the past year was a success, constituting a public benefit, and should be continued. The price of the cart—$270.00—the twenty-weeks contract at $17.50, the extra days run after the contract expired and the labor on standpipes equalled the $650.00 appropriated.

During the summer of 1909, the water comissioners relaid 2190 feet of six-inch cement-lined pipe, on the supply line above the reservoir, with eight-inch cast-iron pipe of suitable strength.

The entire cost of this work was $2c93.84 of which $1614.03 was charged to "maintenance" and $479.81 to "excess renewal." This latter amount is added to the cost of the water works and shows in construction account above.

The School street main has been extended with twoinch galvanized iron pipe as far as the residence of H. B. Burbank, supplying water for five families therefrom. Cost of this work was $489.02, which was charged to extensions and appears in the cost of water works.

In addition to the foregoing improvements, it was necessary to relay the small pipe on Water and Pearl streets at a cost of $119.71. The old wooden fence at the reservoir has been replaced by one of modern wire construction at an expense of $140.51.

These last two items were charged to renewal account and are included under maintenance account in this report.

There now remains to be re-laid a section of six-inch cement-lined pipe on the supply line, with eight-inch castiron. The commissioners have purchased pipe for the work which will be completed early this coming summer. When done, the supply line will be eight-inch iron pipe from Loon Lake to Jones meadow, so called, and six-inch iron pipe from the meadow to a point about half way to the top of Bible Hill. The need for replacing the balance of this line does not seem urgent, although necessary later on.

(Signed)

Report of School Board.

To the Citizens of Hillsborough:

The members of the School Board for the Town District respectfully present to you their annual report and also that of the Superintendent of Schools.

Eight schools have been maintained throughout the year, although not always in the same division.

The Roll of Honor and list of teachers are this year reported for the school year ending July 15, 1909, as the law requires the school year to end at that date.

The rebates from the State have been of great assistance to the schools, especially that for average attendance. In no easier way can parents and guardians help their town financially than by requiring their children to attend school regularly, as the higher the average attendance the more money is received from the State. For the past year the district has received nearly six hundred dollars for average attendance, approved teachers, district supervision and high school rebate.

We heartily urge and desire the co-operation of all our citizens, especially parents, in visiting the schools and becoming familiar with the work done there.

Needed during year 1910-11 for text-books, supplies, flags and appurtenances and high school tuition:

Text-books and supplies .	$ 25	00
Flags and appurtenances	5	00
High school tuition	300	00

Report of Superintendent of Schools.

Members of the School Board:

I respectfully submit the following report concerning the Schools of Hillsboro Town District. On account of the short time that I have served you in the capacity of superintendent of schools, it will not be possible to review the work of the year and note the progress that has been made.

I have become well enough acquainted with the situation, however, to realize that the problem of providing school facilities for the scattered population of the district is one that should demand a great deal of careful thought and planning in order that the best results may be obtained for the money expended. My predecessor had the same idea concerning the problem, I think, and at this point, I wish to commend his report of last year as it contains suggestions that are worthy of consideration. Since the writing of that report, a law has gone into effect which provides that the smaller towns shall receive from the state two dollars a week for each teacher who holds a state certificate, or who is a graduate of an approved normal school. The money thus received shall not necessarily go to the teacher, but shall be used for improving school opportunities. It may be wholly used for increasing the salaries of teachers, and probably a large portion of it will be so used throughout the state, as this is usually the most effective way to get better schools. The strong, well-equipped and enthusiastic teacher will get results that it is impossible for one not thus qualified to secure. Therefore it would seem wise to use the money coming from the state for hiring teachers whose abilities will command larger salaries than those being paid at the present time.

The question as to what schools shall be opened is one that for the present, at least, will have to be determined from year to year. The removal of a single large family from a school district may reduce the number of pupils to such an extent that it would be unwise to continue to maintain a school in that locality. When such cases arise it will be better, usually, to provide facilities for the transportation of the remaining pupils to some other school.

Unfortunately, the rural school problem has not received in the past the same amount of attention from those who make a specialty of educational work that has been given to the organization and administration of the city systems. For this reason, we find that, although the latter vary much in regard to the details of the work, they are almost universally successful in securing satisfactory and substantial results.

Lately, however, the thoughts of many have been directed toward the country schools to see if something could be done to make them more effective and furnish for the children opportunities that would equal those provided for pupils whose homes are in the cities. State aid for the less wealthy towns, consolidation of schools, transportation of pupils at public expense, and district supervision of schools are results of the attention that has been given to the solution of the problem.

In the western states, county supervision is the rule. But the counties are so large that it is not possible for the superintendent to visit the schools often enough to come into very close touch with the work of the individual teachers. In spite of this handicap, some of the men in the work have obtained valuable results. One man in particular, Supt. O. J. Kern of Winnebago County, Illinois, has done much toward bringing about the beautifying of the school grounds, and the decoration of the interior of the school buildings. He has also aroused and encouraged an interest on the part of the children in the products of the soil. This has been done in such a way as to dignify the calling of the farmer, and to show that thought applied to the tilling of the soil would yield rich rewards. This point I wish to emphasize.

While it may not be possible for us to engage teachers who can give instruction in farm management it is not unreasonable for us to expect to employ those who can call the attention of the boys and girls to the work that is being done by experiment stations, and by the United States Department of Agriculture, and to the publications that they are issuing from time to time. She can also impress upon their minds that the time is upon us when the man who knows what his farm will produce to the best advantage, and will apply his knowledge, is the man who will succeed. She may test seeds, and bring out the truth that seed from good specimens must be used if crops of excellent quality are to be harvested.

Of course, what is usually thought of as the regular work of the school is not to be neglected. Indeed, if a child has a garden of his own at home, the telling by him of how he manages it will provide a good basis for language work, an oft neglected subject and a bugbear to many. This, however, will give something for him to talk or write about—something of his own in which he is interested, and when he is interested, he will have something to say.

The teacher may also encourage the pupils to take an active part in improving the appearance of the schoolhouse and its surroundings, and thus make them feel that they have a share in the ownership of public property. Even a small sum raised by a public exhibition or by contributions is sufficient to purchase a copy of some famous painting, which would give enjoyment and inspiration to the pupils for many years. The pupils could prepare a flower bed in the yard and sow the seeds of suitable plants, which would in due time beautify the grounds, besides providing a common topic of interest, and help in fostering a spirit of civic pride.

The teachers who are now serving the district will be glad to do something along this line, I feel assured. Their names and the schools that they last attended are given in a tabular statement below:

SCHOOL	TEACHER	EDUCATION
Bear Hill	Bessie M. Kimball	Hillsboro High
Centre	Lois H. Rickey	Bridgewater Normal
Concord End	Gladys H. Murdo	Hillsboro High
Goodell	Eva B. Ash	Hillsboro High
Lower Village	Edythe M. Crooker	Dewey Training
Merril1	Nellie M. McNiff	Fitchburg Normal
Upper Village	Alice M. Swain	Concord High

In closing this report, I wish to express my appreciation for the many courtesies enjoyed since I began work in this district.

Respectfully submitted,
FREDERICK L. KENDALL,
Superintendent of Schools.

Report of the Board of Education.

The Board of Education presents herewith its report for the fiscal year ending February 15th, 1910, and the school year ending July 15th, 1909, together with reports from the Superintendent of Schools and Instructors.

Your attention is particularly called to the suggestion regarding an addition to the school building. Additional room has been needed for some time and a new building for the High School or the lower grades would have been the best solution of the problem, but the school boards have been reluctant to ask for the necessary money for the purchase of a lot and the erection of a building and the scheme proposed by the Superintendent of Schools appears to offer relief without too great expense.

The latter part of the year was saddened by the sudden death of the Chairman of the Board, Miss Mary A. Crosby, who passed away Dec. 13, 1900.

Of great strength of character with high ideals, her presence on the Board was a constant inspiration and help. With a keen sense of justice, yet with a strong sympathy, she was a frequent arbiter in the many disagreements that arise in public positions. In her death, teachers and parents have suffered a personal loss which it will be well-nigh impossible to replace.

LEON E. ANNIS, GEORGE W. HASLET,

Report of Superintendent of Schools,

Members of the Board of Education:

I respectfully submit the following report concerning the schools of the Hillsboro Special District, which is the fourth annual report in the series written by a superintendent of schools.

As I have been connected with the schools of this district but a little over three months, it will be impossible to compare the conditions of a year ago with those existing at the present time. Some things that have occurred during the year may be mentioned, however, and some suggestions may be made concerning the needs for the future.

Since the printing of the last report, there have been a few changes in the teaching force. Miss Nina M. Perkins, a graduate of the Plymouth Normal School, took charge of the second grade room at the beginning of the spring term. Miss Mary I. Powell was granted a leave of absence during the fall term on account of ill health, and Miss Lillian S. Burt, a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College, substituted in her place. Two of the present assistants in the High School, Miss Louise J. Cooper, a graduate of Boston University, and Miss Emily M. Cate, a graduate of Tufts College, began work with us in September. Miss Louise Barrett resigned at the close of the fall term and was succeeded by Miss M. Louise Tracy, a graduate of Boston University with nearly two years' experience. Miss Emeline O. Mendum, the supervisor of drawing, a graduate of the Normal Art School in Boston, entered upon her duties in Hillsboro at the beginning of the fall term.

By glancing through the list of teachers employed at the present time, as printed elsewhere in this report, one sees that of the ten teachers, four hold college diplomas, three have normal school diplomas, one has had a partial college course and a course in a special school, another has taken a kindergurten course, and another was graduated from a seminary. This makes an unusually strong combination from the standpoint of preparation for a district of this size.

In order that towns like this might retain the services of capable teachers, the last legislature passed a law that towns with a population of less than three thousand five hundred and a valuation of less than seven thousand dollars per pupil of average membership should receive from the state the sum of two dollars a week for each teacher who holds a state certificate or who is a graduate of an approved normal school. As five of the teachers now employed fulfil the requirements for obtaining this grant, a substantial sum from this source will come into the treasury of the district at the time of the apportionment next December.

It is the plan of the state department that this money shall be used for improving school conditions. This may be done by increasing the pay of competent teachers already in the service, or it may be used to secure new teachers of superior qualifications, or it may be used in other ways to increase or improve school opportunities. A portion of it might be used legitimately to increase the length of the school year in the lower grades, so that all grades would have a year of thirty-six weeks.

In the report of last year, my predecessor called attention to the prospective need of more room in the school building. That need seems to me to be urgent. At the present time, the assembly room of the high school is in the third story, to which there is considerable objection on account of the long flights of steep stairs. The windows of the room are so placed that they furnish a cross light which is considered bad for the eyes by those who have studied into the matter carefully. The commercial room is on the first floor, two flights down from the assembly room, in a small room made by putting a temporary partition across one of the grade rooms. This partition interferes very seriously with the heating and lighting of the second grade room. Indeed, during the short days, it was so dark in the last part of the afternoon that it was not possible to do any work that called for as close application of the eyes as is needed in reading. Furthermore, one of the high school recitation rooms is a hallway, a makeshift at best, and a decidedly unsatisfactory one on the cold days, in spite of additional radiators put in since last year. The typewriters are in a small room under the roof on the third story, two stories away from the commercial room where the teacher in charge does the most of her work. Finally, the supply room and office is too small for the purpose and robs the front hall of needed space.

As a remedy for these conditions, I have already submitted for your consideration a plan which calls for an addition to the present building on the northwest side of what is known as the new part of the schoolhouse. In this proposed addition, there would be on the first floor a grade room similar to the one now being used by the first grade, an office and supply room of sufficient size, and a commodions hallway. On the second floor, there would be a well-lighted assembly room for the high school, large enough to accommodate sixty or more pupils; and on the third floor, a recitation room of convenient size. The commercial department would occupy the present grammar room with a portion cut off for the use of those who practice on the typewriters. This arrangement would so concentrate the rooms for high school work that they would be easily and quickly accessible from the assembly room and from each other.

Another feature of the plan submitted is a ventilating shaft for taking the foul air away from the school rooms and also from the sanitaries, as the present arrangements are far from being efficient.

While this proposition would necessitate the expenditure of some money, the benefits to be obtained would make ample returns on the investment.

Turning from the question of building accommodations to that of instruction, I wish to speak in a commendable way regarding the work that is now being done. the matter of methods, perhaps no greater advance has been made in the teaching of any subject in recent years than has been made in the teaching of primary reading. The work has been so systematized that it is no uncommon thing for children in the first grade in the larger schools to read six or eight or even a dozen primers and first readers in the course of the year, and do it with ease and understanding. Different methods are in use whereby this end may be accomplished, but perhaps the one most in favor at the present time is the one adopted in the school here about a year ago, and which seems to be fulfilling in large measure the claims that are made concerning its worth.

The reports of the Principal of the High School, the Supervisor of Music and the Supervisor of Drawing accompany this report and form a part of it.

In closing, I wish to say that I fully appreciate the existing spirit of cordiality and co-operation on the part of both citizens and school authorities.

Respectfully submitted,
FREDERICK L. KENDALL,
Superintendent of Schools,

Report of Principal.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

A few years ago a county superintendent of schools made a mathematical calculation of the value of education, based on the census figures and obtained the following results:—An uneducated child has one chance in 150,000 of attaining distinction. A common school education increases his chance nearly four times. A high school education increases the chance of the common school child more than twenty times, giving him eighty-seven times the chance of the uneducated. A college education increases the chance of the high school boy nine times, giving him more than two hundred times the chance of the common school boy.

The increase in the membership of our High School during recent years is an illustration of what is taking place throughout the state and the nation. That our community intends to meet the demands of the times and provide adequate training for those who have completed the work of the grades, is shown by the facilities that each year have been added to the equipment of the high school.

In the summer the committee substituted a new course of study for that known as Curriculum III. This is based upon a course recommended by the State Superintendent, and is intended for pupils who may not wish to study foreign languages, but prefer more history and science than the other courses provide, as well as some commercial subjects.

The commercial course, now the choice of more than half of the pupils, continues to justify its existence and to prove the wisdom of its introduction. The examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board were given here last June and were taken by six pupils, five of whom were members of this school. Arrangements have been made to have them given here again next June.

Steps are being taken to secure the approval of the school by the New England College Entrance Certificate Board. As two of the recent graduates of the school have passed their entrance examinations for college without conditions, we are now trying to secure the approval of our courses of study by the Board. If this is obtained, graduates of the school, of high standing, may be admitted without examination to any of the colleges represented on the Board.

In closing, I wish to express my appreciation of the cordial co-operation of both teachers and school officials.

Respectfully submitted,
GEORGE F. MURDOCK,
Principal.

Report of Supervisor of Music.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

In submitting my second annual report I take pleasure in saying that the work in music in the school in Hillsboro is in much better general condition than it was one year ago. The work in nearly all the grades is progressing in a satisfactory manner, and by the end of the school year I think the lower grades will be up to the prescribed course of study.

Much importance is laid upon the individual work, for the true test lies in what each one can do. By carrying out this individual work in a systematic manner we are striving to form habits of independence, concentration, accuracy, mental alertness and self control. We are also constantly trying to better the tone quality: quality of tone, not the amount of tone being the ideal before us.

A supervisor cannot do all the work alone. There must be co-operation on the part of the grade teachers, for to them falls the drill work every day. Owing to their faithful daily work the music is improving.

Respectfully submitted,
HELEN D. DAGGETT,
Supervisor of Music.

Report of Supervisor of Drawing.

Mr. F. L. Kendall,

Superintendent of Schools:

The report to the town of Hillsborough for the work done in drawing is as follows:

On beginning my work, I found the children interested in drawing and well trained along certain lines. It only remained for me to go on with the work so well started.

I have tried to introduce more or less manual training into the course, all through the grades. The children in the first two grades have had such constructive work as making boxes, houses, sleds, etc., by paper-folding, and have done free-hand paper cutting, as have also the third and fourth grades.

* The Christmas work in nearly all the grades was devoted to constructive work, gift making. I found that the children in all the grades had to be taught to measure, and the making of actual things, even of paper or card-board, as baskets, candy-trays, portfolios, blotting-pads, etc., showed them the need of accuracy. Design was applied to all the things made. In the eighth and ninth grades we made original designs for brass pen-trays.

In addition to the regular nature work, we drew trees in some of the upper grades and each grade, except the first, has drawn one or two landscapes. The pupils were first called upon to observe a particular aspect of nature, as the trees in autumn coloring or a twilight effect, and in another lesson they expressed their impression of it by drawing from memory.

Object drawing in the upper grades and illustrative drawing, or the drawing of life and action, in the lower grades, is the subject for January and February. Some lessons are for close observation, correct proportion and perspective; others for drawing easily to express an idea or tell a story. The aim has always been to develop power in the child rather than to produce immediate results merely to please the eye.

In the High School, the half hour period seemed very short for dealing with large classes. The time given has been for each of the divisions, the mechanical and ree-hand, a half hour once in two weeks. Very little can be accomplished in this time.

In the mechanical division we took up lettering first, then the planning of a "design" for the cover of the school report. The cover of this report is the result of one student's planning,—the spacing of the printed page, size of type, etc. An authority, Batchelder, in his book, "Principles of Design," says: "Few workers have such constant hourly opportunity for the application of the judgment and taste that is developed by an artistic training, as the printer." The problem seemed a good one to me for the High School, as it gave some training to the eye in recognizing good proportion.

The work in the mechanical division since the first of December has been the making of working drawings, and design in the free-hand.

My work as teacher of drawing in Hillsborough has been made pleasant by the interest of the pupils and the kindness of the teachers.

Respectfully submitted,
EMELINE O. MENDUM,
Supervisor of Drawing.
